Who is D.A.R.E. Indiana?

D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) Indiana fosters solid community relations as parents, schools, and law enforcement agencies work together to help the children of Indiana resist drugs, alcohol, and other high risk behaviors. Currently there are nearly 150 law enforcement officers across the state teaching over 38,000 children the core skills needed to make safe and responsible choices.

These skills extend beyond drugs to healthy and mature choices in life. By developing core academic and life skills, D.A.R.E. Indiana furthers both educational and prevention goals so as students grow to be responsible citizens, they will lead healthier and more productive drug-free lives.
